

CHARLESTON LAW REVIEW

Volume 2 Mid-Summer 2008 Number 4

Student Works Edition

The Judiciary's Inability To Strike Down Healthcare Service Certificate of Need Laws Through Economic Substantive Due Process—A Call For Legislative Action

Robert M. Anderson

The "Price" Is Right: An Overview of Innocent Spouse Relief and the Critical Need For a Uniform Approach To Interpreting the Knowledge Requirement of Internal Revenue Code § 6015

J. Abraham Gutting

A Review of Charleston, South Carolina's Anti-Loitering Ordinance and Its Likelihood of Surviving Constitutional Scrutiny

Nicholas Harling

The Continued Relaxation of Constitutional Standing Requirements In Environmental Litigation: A Note on Massachusetts v. EPA

Stephen M. Kozick

Restorative Justice: The Attempt To Rehabilitate Criminal Offenders and Victims

Lucy Clark Sanders

Separation of Church and Church: An Overview of Episcopal Church Property Battles in Civil Court

Susan Hills Nelson

Deceptive Voting Practices and Voter Intimidation In The Wake of United States v. Charleston County

Katie Fowler

The Sale of Internet Keywords: Trademark Infringement Actionable Under The Lanham Act?

J. Patrick Norris

The Psychological Parent Doctrine: A Solution To South Carolina's Refusal To Provide Rights To Same-Sex Couples

Paul Rogers

The Ray v. Ray Rule: South Carolina's New Formula For Extrinsic Fraud

Barbara G. Holmes